

Why I love this language, not for prediction but to assist us in being with what IS Linear thinking was the leading method for developing the mind in the 20th century. Now in the 21st century, the age of communication, we are learning to use our intuitive abilities, re-claiming the others senses that we are all born with, receiving from our sense of things a larger and ultimately more reliable way of perceiving the world. We will need tools to support that "felt sense" of reality and numerology supplies such a language.

Numerology brings our intuitive knowledge into symbolic language, becoming a bridge between our unconscious and our conscious minds, that mechanism links back to our intuitive, creating a complete feedback loop. This circle or bridge, gives us an experience that strengthens our belief in our deep intuitive wisdom while at the same time, giving us tools of communicating that wisdom into a practical language for our daily lives. We become aware of the rich energies that are the very building blocks of the human experience. We develop compassion, as we understand that all humanity is created from these same energies and that in the absence of love, these energies can be distorted into negative expressions.

As each of us is willing to align to the highest potential of these loving energies, we change the balance of love and light that exists in the world. As we ask, "what can I do in the face of a world where so much hatred, violence and pain exist", one answer is that we can be aware of our own divine potential and hold a daily intention to embrace that potential.

Numerology is a spiritual language because it represents the energies of all creation. Numerology brings our deep knowing, that which we were born with, into the light of daily life where it meets the rigors of the duality of the mind, its questions, doubts, fears and fantasies.

In my work with this language, I have learned that this is not meant to be a tool of prediction; it is an interpretive tool that aids us in sharpening our sight, deepening our feelings, and expanding our awareness. Ultimately it is about giving and receiving love, the quality of experience we all need and desire as the cornerstone of our human experience. Without love, nothing can truly manifest as it was intended to. Without love, energies distort and warp and the world around us becomes a treacherous place. Number symbolism demonstrates for us the components of God's love. This tool is a gift that is meant for us to use as we work to bring our divine potential into our human experience. There is nothing mysterious about numerology, it is at the very core of every language, every culture throughout time. Keep in mind that it is not the numbers but what the numbers represent that is important. The symbols (numbers) suggest the qualities they govern, each vibrating with the potential so necessary to a happy human life.

I offer what I can through my experience of this bridge that it may steady your feet, open your heart, clear your mind and feed your Soul.
